

General Environmental Policies and Aims

The Company deals with pollution prevention and environmental protection through a structured approach that considers all the organisational, technical, economic and legal implications.

The Company feels it should be directly responsible for protecting our environment and to do this it is constantly seeking new ways to safeguard it.

By constructing and maintaining an environmental department with the most suitable technical approach, the Company focuses on improving the current plant and technology to save our natural resources, saving energy and reduce environmental impact compatibly with a sustainably economic use of the best possible techniques currently available. Any decisions as to new technology and procedures are always taken after fully considering all the environmental features.

The Company's environmental protection policies are only possible, however, if all our employees at all levels and in all departments are fully aware of them and to do this we propose organising a series of environmental information and instruction initiatives addressed to all personnel.

The environmental impact produced by our Company is constantly controlled and documented.

For our Company the consequences of any environmental incidents are very important, which is why we constantly do our utmost to reduce all possible dangerous situations by a carefully monitored risk management system.

The Company regularly informs all its clients, suppliers and other companies concerned or people who are interested about the environmental protection initiatives it undertakes.

The Company is very attentive to dialogue with our neighbours, considering their needs and attempting to do everything possible so that they are fully satisfied in our future plans.

The Company buying policy is addressed to protecting natural resources and reducing the number and amount of harmful substances contained in the products as well as reducing the amount of packaging and using recyclable packaging wherever possible.

Legal implications are very important limitations for the Company and for those persons who are appointed by law and current regulations as responsible for any failures or damage that is caused.

However, the Company does not limit its efforts just to respecting law and legislation, rather it is constantly trying to improve its organisational and technical skills so as to reduce risks and protect the environment in an effective and efficient manner. Every year Top Management redefines these targets in the Quality and Environmental Plans.

Consequently, within reasonable cost limits, the Company adapts to the growing ethic, social and legislation requirements for environmental protection, often being ahead of them thanks to efficient planning of all the various activities and initiatives.

Effective prevention of environmental risks and its safeguard needs the involvement and contribution of us all, which implies widespread knowledge of the environmental problems and the technical-organisational regulations, which can only be obtained through an ongoing awareness and information programme.

Every year Top Management reviews its environmental policies to ensure they are constantly adequate. Further to which the Company will inform all employees and suppliers of the established Environmental Policy.
